

NEHEMIAH

Author: Though the Book Bears The Name of Nehemiah, Both Jew and Christian Scholars Recognize _____ as the Author. It's the story of Nehemiah told thru the Pen of Ezra. However, It Is Also Clear That The Information In The Book Is Taken From Either The Diaries Of Nehemiah or His First hand Accounting Of Them Because So Much Of It It Given From A _____ Perspective.

Let's Be Reminded That There Were Basically 3 Waves of Return from the Babylonian Captivity Back to Jerusalem

1st wave out of captivity – led by Zerubbabel

2nd wave out of captivity – led by Ezra

3rd wave out of captivity – led by Nehemiah

...The _____ Took Place In The Book Of Ezra And The Last Here In Nehemiah

Setting: We Know That God Had Used The Babylonians And Assyrians To Deliver His Chastisement Upon Wayward Judah And Israel. However, During The Time Of Their Captivity, World Empire Leadership Changed Hands From The Babylonians To The _____.

The Book of Ezra begins with the decree of Cyrus, a Persian king, to return God's people to Jerusalem to rebuild _____ (ca. 539 B.C.), and chronicles the reestablishment of Judah's national calendar of feasts and sacrifices. Zerubbabel and Joshua led the first return (Ezra 1–6) and rebuilt the temple. Esther gives a glimpse of the Jews left in Persia (ca. 483–473 B.C.), when Haman attempted to _____ the Jewish race. Ezra 7–10 recounts the second return led by Ezra in 458 B.C. Nehemiah chronicles the _____ to rebuild the _____ around Jerusalem (ca. 445 B.C.).
